Tysons' Next Frontiers: Retail, Condos, Community

DC-based strategic firm is moving and no longer needs its furniture. Selling approximately 40 matching sets of Artopex laminate desks and bookcases, lateral file cabinets, folding training tables and chairs. Please contact Jim 301-370-5392 for more info!

There is no arguing Tysons' fundamentals: it can stand on its own as a commercial center, and the multifamily is coming fast. But retail and homeownership (think condos) are the missing pieces for a new city that feels today, at times, "homogeneous and sterile," Georgelas Group managing partner Aaron Georgelas says.

Aaron told the crowd of around 500 yesterday at Bisnow's Tysons Tidal Wave event the idea of having some sort of ownership in Tysons is important. "When somebody comes to a rental property, they're not trying to plant roots. We..."
