

Cambridge Construction was the company that did the build-out at our second PT location. They were amazing in all aspects. We have done many build outs for a past PT company and now our own private practice and they are by far the best company we have worked with. They were very organized, stayed on top of weekly progress, communicated very well with us on a weekly basis through meetings and emails, were very understanding about last minute changes and most importantly stuck to the construction schedule even finishing ahead of the time line. They have been very good about coming back to do touch ups and actually completing the punch out list. We were so impressed by their work ethic and the quality of work was amazing. We would use them again for any other project in a heartbeat!
